

Graduate Certificate in Play and Art Therapy

Application Form

ABOUT THE COURSE

Play and Art Therapy are counselling methods that use toys, games, art materials and activities in purposeful ways to manage psychological and social difficulties. Play Therapy is the most developmentally appropriate and evidenced form of therapeutic intervention for children. Delivered by highly trained and experienced clinicians and teachers who also work in the field, the course is suitable for graduates who work in the field of psychology, social work, counselling, occupational therapy or mental health nursing. The course will provide skills using play and other creative therapies as methods of treatment for multiple child mental health conditions in counselling and group work settings. Graduates will be able to demonstrate an understanding of Play and Art Therapy theories and principles whilst having the ability to apply therapeutic skills within a cultural and social, ethical framework. Graduates will have an appreciation of developmental stages of children and family systems and be sensitive to broaden issues in assessment and design and delivery of therapeutic services. Completion of this course can provide a gateway into further higher degree studies in Play Therapy. From foundational skills in child centered play therapy to the integrative approaches of art, music, drama and sandplay, the course builds on existing mental health qualifications to equip graduates for child and adolescent counselling roles.

PROFESSIONAL RECOGNITION

Graduates will be eligible for professional registration with a number of Australian Play Therapy Associations, meeting the competent requirements for Associate / Provisional / Student Play Therapist Membership, meaning that they can work to become a professional Play therapist.

COURSE STRUCTURE

The course is offered part-time and online. This enables students who are balancing work, life and family commitments the flexibility to complete their studies. The Graduate Certificate of Play and Art Therapy Online is comprised of core and elective units of study, unit assessments, an art therapy process group and individual supervision. Upon completion of this qualification, students may be eligible to apply for enrolment in higher degrees in Play Therapy.

APPLICATION CRITERIA

Applicants must have successfully completed a recognised Bachelor degree or equivalent in the fields of psychology, social work, counselling, occupational therapy or mental health nursing or a Masters degree in art therapy, music therapy or dance/movement therapy and hold (or be working toward) registration with your Mental Health Registering Body. A clear Police Check and/or Working with Children Clearance Notice is required by students before they can enrol.

FEEDBACK FROM COURSE GRADUATES

✓ Of all the training I have done, the knowledge and skills you gave me have been sustained the best. I feel I have not only learnt so much but felt, lived and taken on board this whole new philosophy of working with children and adolescents. I've been motivated and inspired to follow what makes my heart sing, not just work. Thank you, for allowing me to realise I'm in the right field of practice and that I can give this work my own flair, flavour and colour. I'm finding myself really thinking about the work I'm doing with children now and enjoy being on this journey with them. You create VERY special moments in time for people and I think every one of us walked out of the course with so much more than we ever thought we'd receive. Thank you.

Social Worker, Case Worker

✓ I'd have to say, the course and its content grabbed me from Day 1! I enjoyed the fact that we got into the role plays by Day 2 and had lots of opportunities to practice. Great learning for me! The case studies helped to put play therapy into "real life" after the role plays, loved them too. I felt apprehensive about the 3 days of art therapy because I see myself has having few artistic skills. In fact they were the most emotional and powerful days of the course for me. I've never done art therapy and my anxiety around my artistic talents simply melted away. The experiential aspect was amazing and the only way to learn! I have never enjoyed a course as much as I've enjoyed yours. I would do it again in a heartbeat! My head was buzzing for days after each workshop, but in a good way! Thank you ! Thanks for your generosity of information, your gentle way of containing the emotional moments, the caring, calming and trusting environment you created and your infectious passion for play therapy.

Counsellor, Anglicare

✓ The days were well planned and executed. Information shared and learnt was amazing, all worth putting into practice. The applications to my work from this training make me feel proud of the person and psychologist I am becoming.
